Kottcamp

Recent graduate of the school of design at Western Washington University. My focus is on UX strategy, product design, UX research, technology, art, storytelling and the incorporation of AI tools into the design discipline. Fueled by a genuine love of the challenge of translating complex problems into intuitive, innovative and visually stunning solutions, I am ready to join and contribute to dynamic teams to collaborate and craft amazing designs that captivate users and elevate brands and experiences to new heights.
